Overview

C1 Notification is used for sending notifications. Currently there are two types of notifications that can be sent: email and sms.

The module provides RPC methods that can be used to send those notifications, for details see RPC methods.

Configuration is described here: Configuration.